CHOREOGRAPHER Jennifer Monson's group Bird Brain creates dances that explore migratory patterns of birds and other animals. This spring she focuses on the paths of ducks and geese. Her group will appear in cities from Corpus Christi, Texas, to Duluth, Minn., working with local groups (such as Girl Scout troops), whose members take part in the free performances. Ms. Monson's work explores environmental issues with a light touch. Tomorrow's 2 p.m. performance is at the South Texas Institute for the Arts.

Jennifer Monson's Bird Brain Dance project brings its nature-inspired works to locations around the country.
