

Corpus Christi Caller Times

Friday, March 12, 2004 • City edition

'Bird Brain' brings experimental dance

Step inside the mind of a bird as the experimental dance group "Bird Brain" performs on the lawn of the Art Museum of South Texas.

"Bird Brain" follows the migratory path of ducks and geese around the country, and will offer performances, panel discussions and spontaneous outdoor performances with every duck and goose sighting. A panel discussion follows the performance at 3 p.m. inside the museum auditorium.

The performance and panel discussion, free with paid museum admission, is part of the Corpus Christi Festival for the Arts, which runs through April 5.

"Bird Brain." 2 p.m., Saturday. Art Museum of South Texas. Free. Information: 825-3500.

BIRD BRAIN ART

What: An afternoon of art, activities and performance based on works of the experimental dance group bird brain for kids age 5-12

When: From 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday at art museum of South Texas, 1902 N. Shoreline Blvd.

Cost: $5 members, $15 nonmembers

Contributed photo

The experimental dance group 'Bird Brain' will perform at 2 p.m., Saturday at the Art Museum of South Texas.